MR. INSINGER ELECTED.

HAULTAIN'S CANDIDATE IN WALLACE RETURNED.

The Deadlock Broken—The Majority a Convincing One—Banquet to Mr. Insinger.

YORKTON, Assa, Nov. 13.—As a consequence of the bye-election in Wallace yesterday the deadlock in the Northwest Assembly, which occurred in that body at its late session will be broken, the Haultain candidate, Mr. Insinger, having been elected over Cayley's nominee, McNutt, by a substantial majority. Previous to the death of Mr. Reaman, who was a member of Cayley's executive, the parties in the house stood a tie, thirteen on each side. His death left Haultain with a majority of one, and now the election of Insinger gives him a majority of two, which will restore to him the leadership of the house, provided his followers remain united as they were at prorogation and there is no reason to suppose that they are otherwise.

Returns to hand give Insinger a majority of 170, with Pely to hear from. It is estimated that that place will give McNutt about 25 of a majority.

Following is the result of the voting at some of the polling places:—Yorkton, Insinger, 15; McNutt, 9; Saltcoats, McNutt, 70; Insinger, 46; Langenburg, Insinger, 31; McNutt 35; Pedana, McNutt, 6; Insinger, 1; Rathwell, Insinger maj.; 13; Churchbridge, McNutt maj.; 14; Riverdale, Insinger maj. 8.

Mr. Insinger was banqueted by his friends in Saltcoats on the evening of the 14th inst.

THE CHEERFUL CITY.

Banquet to the Minister of the Interior By Calgary Citizens.

CALGARY, N. W. T., Nov. 12.—The banquet to Hon. T. M. Daly given last night by the citizens of Calgary was an immense success. The hall was filled with prominent business men of Calgary and ranchmen of the surrounding district, with a number of visitors from other western towns. Notwithstanding his painful accident, Mr. Daly announced his intention of being present early in the day. Though forbidden by his physicians, at the appointed hour he entered the hall on crutches, meeting with a rousing reception. After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts Mayor Lucas proposed "our guest" prefacing his remarks by stating that nowhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific was Mr. Daly's elevation to his present position received with more unbounded satisfaction than here. Mr. Daly was the right man—one to whom we could go with our requests sure of their receiving proper consideration. He closed his speech with a wish that Mr. Daly might long fill the portfolio of minister of the interior.

Mr. Daly regretted being unable to rise in response to the ovation given him, but felt his hands strengthened by the very hearty support he was receiving from the west. He would assure all present that he intended to begin a vigorous immigration policy, but reminded his hearers that he was appointed too late to have much influence on next season's immigration. He would do his best, however. None knew better than western members of the opposition given to such schemes by members from the Maritime Provinces. Assuring his hearers of his interest of the welfare of the west Mr. Daly took his seat amidst great applause.

Mr. Longhead and D. Davis responded to the toast of the Senate and House of Commons. Mr. Longhead congratulated the new minister and said that his appointment meant the commencement of a new era for the west. Mr. Daly knew the want of the country and none was more capable than he to fill the responsible position of minister of the interior.

The toast of our guests was responded to by Mayors McCauley of Edmonton and L. P. Krebs of Toronto. The learned professions by J. B. Smith and Dr. Brett; the interests of all Alberta by P. J. Nolan and others. Many other toasts were proposed and responded to and the banquet closed at a late hour.

GREYSTILL, Nov. 12.—The Conservative convention for the selection of a candidate for Eastern Assiniboia opened at 10.30 this morning with J. E. Brigham, president of the association, in the chair. Seven candidates were present, as follows: W. W. McDonald, Hawkes, Patterson, Richardson, Bell, Leacock, and Thornburn. Mr. Leacock in an eloquent speech stated that as an official of the C.P.R. he could not allow his name to remain before the convention. A speech was then made by each candidate before balloting, in which they stated their views on the political questions of moment. The contest from the start was between W. W. McDonald, of Fleming, and Major Bell, and decided in favor of the former.

At the fifth ballot, Richardson and Patterson, who were supposed to be strong, received no support whatever outside of their own local associations. Hawkes voluntarily retired at the third ballot, and Thornburn's friends' pertinacity carried him to the end of the proceedings. The most harmonious feeling prevailed throughout and the nomination was received with acclamation and hearty endorsement.

Much regret was expressed that the popular secretary of the association, Mr. R. S. Lake, would not allow his name to be proposed. Messrs. Brigham, chairman; Lake, secretary, and Gishens and Roberts, scrutineers, received a hearty vote of thanks for the able manner in which they performed their duties.

Fractured his Ankle.

CALGARY, Nov. 14.—While en-route from Regina to Calgary the Minister of the Interior sustained a severe injury when stepping off the car at Maple Creek. The small ankle bone was fractured. He has had to cancel all his engagements. He, however, attended the banquet here on Friday evening. It is much to be regretted the Minister could not carry out his intention of visiting Edmonton and Prince Albert. He will now have to lie by for a short time at Brandon.

A Priest Sues For Libel.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—Feliatrault, proprietor of the Canada Reclie, was recently "handed" by Archbishop Fabre was arrested to day on a charge of criminal libel made against him by Abbe Baillarge, of Joliet. Baillarge is a professor in Joliet college and seems to take special exception to the article which appeared in the Canada Reclie two weeks ago. This article was signed by Feliatrault himself and stated among other things that Baillarge had a mania to write in a language that resembled a great deal the Algonquin and that he was not an ordinary intellect, but a whole asylum in himself.

THE TOWN HALL OPENED.

Successful Concert Under The Auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance.

The concert which opened the new town hall on Wednesday night was a pronounced success. The committee of the Glencorse Council of the R. T. of T. spared no pains in bringing the event to a successful issue. Probably as large an audience as has ever assembled in Moose Jaw were present. Indeed it was utterly impossible to seat all who went, for even the standing room of the hall was taxed to its fullest degree. Promptly at 20 o'clock His Worship the Mayor in a few well chosen remarks introduced the first number on the programme. This was a chorus entitled "Temperance Bells" rendered by members of the order. A reading entitled "Curing a Cold" was then given by Mr. J. S. McDonald. This was as amusing as the majority of Mark Twain's sketches, but while it was exceedingly well rendered the selection was rather too long and was unsuited to the audience.

Master Emory Young, who was announced in the programme as the Champion Boy "Orator" of America, a high-sounding title at any rate, was then introduced. Master Young is a bright little lad of eight years or thereabouts. He delivered a speech on the liquor traffic. His rendering shows what can be done in a mechanical way towards perfecting children in elocution. His gesticulations were well suited to the sense, his delivery was forcible, and his voice-modulation was suited to each change of thought. So much for the little fellow's rendering of his selections. We think, however, that the subject matter would be a more suitable choice for a speaker of middle life than for a boy of eight.

A tableau called "The Effects of Smoking" caused considerable merriment. In the first act a little shaver was seen obtaining surreptitious smoke in the second he looks as though he had had his first experience with the ground-swell on the Bay of Biscay.

Master Ben Ostrander was the boy in question and acted his part very creditably.

An harmonica duet was then given by Messrs. Mousette and Richards who were impersonating negroes. Their performance occasioned not a little merriment. After a pianoforte duet by Mrs. Byrne and Miss Christie, which was well rendered and equally as well appreciated, a laughable farce entitled "A California Uncle" was given.

The following is the cast of characters:—Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. J. E. Annable, Miss Edith Lawrence, Miss Powell; Miss Ruth Lawrence, Miss Christie; Horace Lawrence (California Uncle); J. E. Annable; Col. Graham, D. H. Grant; Eugene LeMoine, C. D. J. Christie.

In this Mrs. Lawrence and her two daughters, Edith and Ruth are keeping a boarding house in New York, being in reduced circumstances. An uncle from California who is possessed of considerable means turns up, and visits them. His ways are so smooth however that he mortally offends Eugene LeMoine, a half-baked English dude, who is paying attention to the eldest Miss Lawrence. Edith is so rude to her uncle that he goes away in high dudgeon. Subsequently Colonel Graham, agent of the uncle comes from California with orders from him to bear Ruth out to his western home. While they are talking, a letter received from Mr. Graham's employer saying that he would make a comfortable home for Ruth, and that Edith might follow when she learned to show some measure of respect towards her avuncular relative. As soon as this letter is read the uncle himself appears on the scene. The matter is beautifully patched up. The whole party go to California with the exception of LeMoine who gets generally in the soup.

After a song by Mr. Lang and a recitation by Master Young, Mr. W. J. Nelson recited in a very pathetic manner "The Drunkard's Wife." Miss E. M. Burnetts recited with good effect "The Legend of the Organ Builder."

An interesting tableau "Yield not to Temptation," was next put on. In the first scene a young couple are made man and wife. In the next the guests are in the midst of the wedding festivities. The health of the bride has been proposed by the minister and as the guests are about to quaff the cup that cheers and gladdens habitude, a voice is heard in the distance singing "Yield not to Temptation." The glasses are lowered—extinguished.

A recitation "The Battle of Waterloo" was given by Master Hugh Robinson. This piece was too difficult for a boy of his years and was far beyond his recitative powers. If such a selection as "Roger and I" or "The Death of Little Joe" had been chosen for him, he would have acquitted himself admirably. As it was, however, considering the difficult nature of the selection, Master Hugh did remarkably well.

The stump speech by Time Richards was very amusing, and the embryo comedian will doubtless develop his talent in mimicry. His enunciation, however, was not the clearest and it was difficult for those farthest removed from the stage to distinguish some of his words.

Mrs. Chalmers sang in her usual pleasing manner one of her favorites: "The Blue Alaskan Mountains."

"International Batteredup" a laughable affair in which several ladies and gentlemen, dressed to represent the different nationalities, come one by one on the stage and sing "Little Batteredup," brought the programme to a close. Special mention must be made of little Pauline Annable who made a typical "Batteredup," and who performed her part in a charming manner.

A Brewery For Regina.

Regina, Lucie: For some time past, preliminary measures have been taken for the establishment of the "Regina Brewery," and Mr. W. J. Knight, of Swift Current, a practical brewer, has been in town for the purpose of testing the water, with a view to finally settling upon the site. The barley grown in this district is of the finest quality for malt making; and, as it is proposed to carry on the manufacture of malt in connection with the brewery, there is no doubt the will be highly appreciated by the grain growers in this locality. As another means of employing labor, and securing the expenditure of a considerable amount of money for a commodity which is now imported, it cannot fail to be of importance to the city generally.

The Call to Rev. Mr. Knowles.

HALIFAX, Nov. 8.—A congregational meeting of Fort Massey church was held to-night when it was decided to call the Rev. R. E. Knowles, of Ottawa, (formerly of Manitoba college) to succeed the Rev. Dr. Burns in the pastorate there. A minority were in favor of delay, and urged their reasons therefor with considerable earnestness. They held that the congregation was not unanimous and could not be so on the names which as yet had come before them. More names might come if other candidates were heard. The motion for delay was voted down by sixty to thirteen. The motion was then moved that Mr. Knowles be called. About three fourths of those present voted for this, the remainder refusing to vote. The minority of about one-fourth gave out their determination to refuse to sign the call.

DOWN AND OUT.

The election in Wallace is over and Mr. Insinger, a man who is pledged to support a vote of want of confidence in the Cayley administration, is elected. This gives Mr. Haultain a majority of two, which will be sufficient to carry on the work of the Assembly. It is not our purpose to refer to the circumstances that led up to this election. The facts have been kept prominently before readers of the Times. Sufficient it is to say that now that Mr. Cayley has enjoyed a little cheap notoriety—now that he has tasted the sweets of office for a short period; now that he and his executive have been abolished in black nonentity by the voice of the people of Wallace; now that he has realized that the people of the Territories do not accept him at his own fancy valuation,—the only graceful thing that he can do is to advise the speedy calling together of the assembly, and then step down and out.

We tender this advice in a friendly way. Of course Mr. Cayley would prefer to blunder on, drawing his eight dollars a day as the emolument to be derived from an office that he has been falling in defiance of constitutional law. But if he does he must know, if he is endowed with ordinary common sense, that his resignation must come sooner or later; the more tenaciously he clings to office the more complete will be his downfall; and the rough jolting that he will receive at the hands of the Press of the Territories will certainly not be pleasant medicine.

Mr. Cayley has certainly not enjoyed a bed of roses since his elevation to the leadership. He has been ignored at Ottawa. No sum of money has been placed at his disposal. He has not been allowed even the poor satisfaction of signing cheques and above and before all he has been justly censured by public opinion throughout the Territories. The only amends he can make, therefore, is to facilitate the extrication of the affairs of the country from the unfortunate position into which they have been plunged by his mad thirst for office and power. Mr. Cayley has been taught a sharp and wholesome lesson. Let us hope that he will accept the rebuke humbly, and make such amends as he is in his power.

EDITORIAL AND GENERAL NOTES.

Readers of the Toronto Empire are treated to a large dose of editorial matter on the Presidential election, in its issue of the 10th inst. Enough is as good as a feast!

For some time, what with street crossings ankle deep with mud and gaps in sidewalks opposite unfinished buildings—pedestrians have had a sorry time. What is going to be done with our streets? We ask the question on all seriousness.

The Regina Leader speaks of the location of the Brandon Court House as the act of a man who used his political position to further his business interests. And if the location of a mere building is to be condemned in this way, what, oh, what, might be said on the subject of the location of the capital of the Territories? We leave the question with our readers.

The Edmonton Bulletin has just entered the thirteenth year of its existence. It enjoys, and deservedly so, the reputation of being one of the most independent and fearless journals in the country. On an occasion such as the present congratulations from Territorial newspapers are in order, and THE TIMES does not wish to be behind-hand in extending them.

The Bank of Montreal's semi-annual statement issued to the shareholders to-day shows that the earnings for the six months ending October 31st amounted to $604,144, or about 5.04 per cent on the paid up capital. The earnings for the corresponding half year of 1891 amounted to $606,642, or 5.50 per cent on the paid up capital. The statement causes disappointment but is regarded in financial circles as fairly satisfactory.

Far from any suggestion of adopting the decimal coinage the latest movement in Britain is a plea for thirty shilling pieces. The writer is Sir John Evans and his contribution appears in Longman's. Already there are ten shilling, twenty shilling, forty shilling and one hundred shilling gold coins, although the double sovereign and the five sovereign piece have never come into common use. The attraction which Sir John Evans sees in the proposed thirty shilling piece is that it would be convenient in payment of amounts over a pound and would be an economy to the mint.

One reason why Canadians do not obtain all their markets is because they do not keep pace with the ever-changing requirements of trade. A British Columbia paper points out that the miners' tools—picks, shovels, hammers, etc., made in eastern Canada are too clumsy and too heavy for use there, and hence miners will not buy them. Supplies of these articles have to be laid in from the United States, and it pays to ship them even from Pittsburg, Pa., direct. It is stated that American samples have been sent east for information and guidance in the manufacture, but, up to present time, without result.

At a union convention of the teachers of Central Assiniboia, Regina and Moose Jaw Districts, held in Regina on Nov. 4th the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas it is possible that some change will in the near future be made in the School Ordinance, by which the Board of Education will be abolished:

"He it therefore resolved that, in the opinion of this Convention, it is desirable that the direction of Educational affairs be placed under the supervision of a skilled Educationist, or of a Board or Council composed of men having a practical acquaintance with the working of schools."

This is a matter of vital importance and one that must sooner or later engage the attention of the Assembly. The Board of Education was organized at a time when the only available men who would undertake its duties were were clergymen or other professional men, and while we have no wish to disparage the work done by them, the time has come when the control of our educational affairs must be placed in the hands of men who have had, as the resolution above reads, "a practical acquaintance with the working of schools."

The Courier and the Journal, two weeklies that have for some time been published in the thriving town of Moosomin have been purchased by a strong company to be styled "The Moosomin Printing and Publishing Company. We have not yet learned the name of the new paper. The company has secured the service of Mr. J. J. Young, formerly editor of the Leader, who will act in the capacity of editor and business manager. The new company is fortunate in securing the services of a journalist of the ability and wide experience of Mr. Young. We look forward with interest for the initial number of the new paper.

Mr. Henry J. Morgan, of Ottawa, has been making some interesting antiquarian investigations upon the subject of church bells. The current supposition has been that the Cathbert church bell at Berthier, P.Q., is the oldest Protestant one in Canada, others follow in this order:

1. Cathbert bell, cast 1774.
 2. Mohawk Church bell, cast 1782.
 3. Old St. Gabriel's bell, cast 1809.
- Mr. Morgan went to some pains to obtain and verify these dates, and in doing so accidentally visited the Anglican church at St. Andrew's in Argenteuil county. He found a bell manufactured in 1759, and therefore the oldest Protestant church bell in the country. Curiously enough the first incumbent of this ancient church was the Rev. Joseph Abbott, father of the present Premier of Canada. In the neighboring parsonage Sir John Caldwell Abbott was born, and in this church he was subsequently baptized.

The enterprise of the London Times in having had called to it the full text of Mr. Gladstone's article in the North American Review suggests a curious consideration. The message cost the Times within a few shillings of £230. Mr. Gladstone received a cheque for £100 for the article, which ran up to something less than 4,000 words. The real value of Mr. Gladstone's contribution, however, is seen in the fact that the Times was ready to pay £230 for transmission of its text, adding the tribute of its thanks to the North American Review for permission to print a strictly limited number of sentences. Nor is the Times alone in its enterprise in this direction. Other morning papers add sums varying from £100 to £200 for cabling the article. The New York Tribune has a cable message dispatched every Saturday by its London correspondent, which averages the length of Mr. Gladstone's article in the North American Review, and costs its price for transmission. The newspaper thus spends from £230 to £250 every week in the mere cabling of an article.

Calgary Herald: The Regina correspondent of the Montreal Star has telegraphed the following:

"It is understood that eventually the C. P. R. will abandon the present line on account of the dangerous slides of the Selkirk range, where many miles of snow shed have been built to protect the track."

The section of road referred to is the most attractive for tourists travel of any part of the vast system of the C.P.R. The reputation of its attractiveness draws more foreign travel to the C.P.R. than anything else it can possibly offer. This class of travel, which is the best paying of all its traffic, is increasing from year to year and will go on increasing for fifty years to come. During the last twelve months the C.P.R. has made heavy expenditures to improve its accommodation for travellers in the section referred to. In the season that has just closed its mountain hotel service has been expanded to the utmost limit, and new hotels, new dining and sleeping cars, and the like, have been introduced. The volume of travel in the winter months is not so great as in the summer months, but the same care has been given in all the details that would have been offered. The few critics of those who know is that whatever portion of the C.P.R. it may be necessary to "abandon," the very last will be the mountain district. But the C.P.R. is not that kind of corporation to abandon any portion of its line. It holds on to what it gets and calls for more; and its triumphs as the greatest railway corporation in the world are only beginning.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

R. T. OF T.

Articles under this head are supplied by members of Gloucester Council No. 3, Royal Templars of Temperance who are responsible for the same.

A Word to the Boys.

The most important time of your whole life is when you are crossing the threshold of manhood. You may be a light hearted boy with a fresh face and well taught in the ways that lead to a noble type of Christian manhood. Oh my dear boy, (you know a son is always a boy in the mother's heart no matter how old he is) do not take the first step in those habits that sooner or later will ruin your manhood. Many a young man who felt as strong as you to-day took his first glass of liquor because some evil adviser told him it would make a man of him, and is to-day a poor helpless drunkard. "Habits begin in cobwebs but they end in iron chains." One of the most effective causes of the ruin of young men is bad company. Many of the young men are away from the loving home circle and the good mother's influence. They wouldn't have her know where they were, not for anything. They are ashamed of their associations themselves, but fascinations of "seeing life" are strong. They think they can break off at any time from their alluring snares, but how they deceive themselves! Lost! Lost! Lost! How soon the world becomes branded on their once pure faces. From a moral standpoint the indulgence in intoxicants is wrong, the sale of them is wrong, and our government which licenses and protects this sale is deriving a revenue from sin, and pouring into its coffers money that should go to feed and clothe thousands who are suffering for the necessities of life, saying nothing of the ruined manhood, broken hearts and miserable homes that money represents.

For who pays the license? No one can deny that it is the drinker, though he passes it through the pocket of the saloon keeper. With the masses of people who use intoxicants the effect of alcohol upon the system and the inexorable law of heredity which stamps indelibly upon the child the appetites and vices of its parents—how long will it take to raise up a generation of "strictly temperate drink despising men"? The well known fact that thousands of men and women are using their time, strength and money to rescue the victims of strong drink, that organized effort is being put forth in almost every village and hamlet for this purpose. We, R. T. of T., are united by a bond of common purpose, that of making our lives nobler, better and more useful to ourselves and mankind. The amount of good our council will accomplish depends upon the faithfulness with which we owe and all discharge our duties. Let us fully appreciate the object and purposes of our noble work and be equally enthusiastic in its growth and welfare.

Only eternity can tell how true is the success, how far reaching the result of doing our best even in the quiet sphere of life.

Truly yours
Temperance

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

AFTERNOON.

Mr. R. Williams, of Wilkewake, read a paper on writing. This dealt with the subject of teaching writing in primary classes. For this purpose Mr. Williams said the whole alphabet could be resolved into three elements, two curves and a straight line, which he termed respectively the over, the under and the slant. Thus an (i) could be produced by taking an under, a slant and an over and pushing them up together. Other letters could be built up similarly, additional slants could be added above or below the line to make the necessary lengths of stem.

Mr. Groggin, of Beaverville, the Rev. J. K. Webb and Prof. Groggin took part in an animated discussion.

MISS BURNETT OF MOOSE JAW

then read an excellent paper on "First Steps in Arithmetic."

"Children," said Miss Burnett, can be taught anything if it is presented in a simple enough manner, and arithmetic could be so presented. The first year's work is what is called number work. Col. Parker says "Number is that which definitely limits objects of the same kind to how many." These limitations of the senses must have their limitation point beyond which eye and hand cannot take us. It was difficult to determine just when sense ceased and imagination began, the only way to teach number was by the object method because eye and hand can take in so few things at a time. We measured things by standards fixed in the mind by the action of the senses. Every operation in arithmetic consisted of two simple processes—uniting and separating. There were two relations of numbers to each other, viz: relations of equal numbers to each other and relations of unequal numbers to each other. Uniting numbers was addition, uniting equal numbers multiplication. Separation of numbers was subtraction and separating equal numbers of separating numbers into equal parts was division. These were the four fundamental principles. The child learns by observation, not reason, mechanically. It was necessary to ascertain first what the child really knew and then train it by means of objects in which it exercised its sight, touch and hearing. Miss Burnett went on to describe the various stages of instruction and impressed upon her audience the necessity of going slowly. One to ten was enough for the first year and it took about three years for a child to learn all about the numbers from 1 to 100.

After discussion Mr. Groggin dealt with "The Recitation." "Education consisted in acquiring three things—power, method and knowledge. The method of doing this was by means of preparation of the subject and grounding in it. It was impossible to deal with the whole system in the time so he would confine himself to one part and deal with Preparation. Mr. Groggin spoke for over an hour and treated his subject from every point of view. He drew the attention of the convention to the necessity on the part of teachers of a considerate manner towards their pupils, and to see their personal comfort properly attended to in such matters as the temperature of the room etc.

A PUBLIC LECTURE

was delivered in the evening by Mr. Groggin, on the subject of "Morals in the Public Schools." The lecturer dealt with the best methods of training the child to perform his duty towards himself, the home, the state and church, each of which has its proper training institute. He urged strongly that only the highest motives that the child was capable of appreciating should be placed before him. It was necessary for teachers if they understood their duty rightly to attend even to such matters as the personal cleanliness of their pupils, and urged them to teach good manners and deportment. The lecturer spoke strongly and eloquently on the subject of purity. The lecture closed with a striking figure which brought its purport sharply home to the audience.

PROMOTIONS.

Mr. E. W. Millar, of Fort Qu'Appelle, read a paper on "Promotion Examinations." After referring to the provisions of the school ordinance on the subject he said that not written examinations, but class work and the teacher's knowledge of the pupil's proficiency should be the basis of promotion. He held that the system of paying by results had deleterious influence, inasmuch as it encouraged teachers, who were only human, to push forward pupils into higher classes before they were really fit. He showed under the system in use at present, under which each teacher marked the papers of his own pupils, it was impossible to have a uniform test. He deprecated the plan of having so much of the school grant dependent on the results of the promotion examination.

"The art of questioning" was ably dealt with in a paper by Mr. Williams. Owing to lack of time he was unable to discuss the objects of questioning. The danger of indefinite forms of interrogation were pointed out—where a pupil was encouraged to indulge in guessing. Concrete examples of poor questioning were hugely enjoyed by the teachers, who listened attentively to the reader in his discussion of false forms and notes.

Mr. Green, of Moose Jaw, pointed out the danger on the part of those reading papers in placing "Mistakes" in writing and not "good examples" before the convention.

For Miss Rogers class work the assembly gathered in the room for the standard pupils. A score of scholars were to be taught "case." After exchanging salutations with her pupils Miss Rogers introduced the members of the convention to her class. A word was used in three sentences each time in a different relation to its fellow words. The class quickly perceived its use as subject, object and possessor or keeper and they were informed that the relation is called "case."

Mr. Grimmett read his paper on "memory." He considered that the secret of memory training could be seen in the development of that faculty in a child. He gave a picture of the child unconscious of anything outside itself for weeks after birth. Memory did not awaken till the child can realize its nurse or bottle as distinct from its unconsciousness and can imagine them present in their absence. Gradually he sees and hears other things. Those which attract him most are the sounds and colors that are the most striking—that differ from other things. "A good memory is the result of vivid impression and vivid impression is the result of 'unlikeliness.' To make such an impression, isolate the thing to be taught from all others; do one thing at a time. Bring the one thing into prominence, let it stand out so that the pupil can give its attention to the exclusion of everything else. He would bring this about both mechanically and intellectually. Thus he would avoid putting a whole map before a child—nothing but confusion would result from such a mode, while on the other hand he would present his fact and clothe it with interest, when the uninteresting would gather interest and importance. Above all do not go beyond the strength of the pupil and therefore teach but a short time.

Mr. Marwood took exception to the paper. He would insist on training as an aid to the memory. He thought that vivid impression lost its vividness by frequent repetition. His explanation of a method was given that brought out considerable discussion. Mr. Groggin and Mr. Grimmett thought that Mr. Marwood's theory was but a different way of making the fact vivid but was inferior to the plan laid down in the paper because that plan attached associated facts to the point, while Mr. Marwood's gave but a jumble of meaningless words. The reader of the paper objected to the new theory on account of the danger of over development to the memory at the expense of its endurance.

Siberian Railway.

The Volkswirtschaftliche Wochen schrift says: "What the 'New World' is to the western Europeans who emigrate to it on account of earning a livelihood in an easier manner, is the southern portion of Siberia, the Ussuri and Amur district—with its splendid fruitful, virgin soil, its healthy, sunny, half-northern, half-tropical climate, its wonderful immeasurable primeval forests, with the most magnificent giant trees, where the northern reindeer as well as the Bengal tiger is at home—to the Russians. Through this country, to which about 50,000 Russians move annually, the 'Great Siberian Railway' will pass, which is now already called the 'Russian Pacific Railway.' The construction of a portion of this great railway—the Baikal line—will be preceded with a commencement; it is 2,650 versts in length. It starts [as already noticed in Bradstreet's] from the flourishing town of Tomsk (44,000 inhabitants), situated on the navigable river Ob, proceeds to the government town of Tobolsk (25,000 inhabitants), then to Krasnojarsk (22,000 inhabitants); then it approaches the Chinese frontier to the left of the forest mountains of Sajon, which are rich in gold and metals; next it touches at Balagansk, then it proceeds to the prosperous town of Irkutsk (48,000 inhabitants), and in its further course it will connect with a great many other places and rivers, so that its prognosticated that it will become a good paying concern. The construction itself presents, according to the Russian engineers, absolutely no difficulty, as there are no swamps of importance, and the rivers which have to be bridged over are few in number. The cost per verst is estimated at 29,000 roubles. It is calculated that on the basis of 600 versts in twenty-four hours passengers by this railway will reach Shanghai from London in twenty two days."

RHEUMATISM NERVOUS DISEASES CAN BE CURED

ELECTRICITY, AS APPLIED BY THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELT AND APPLIANCES.

It is now recognized as the greatest boon offered to suffering humanity. It is fast taking the place of drugs in all nervous and rheumatic troubles, and will effect cures in seemingly hopeless cases where every other known means has failed. It is Nature's remedy, and by its steady, soothing current that is readily felt, POSITIVELY CURES Nervous Prostration, Rheumatism, Sciatica, St. Mary's Disease, Vertigo, Lame Back and Dyspepsia.

RHEUMATISM

"For twenty years I have been a martyr to rheumatism, suffering at times the most excruciating pains, from which I could get no relief, for doctored medicines, palliatives, etc., had no effect on me, and it was only when I got the Owen Electric Belt that I began to get well. I am thoroughly cured, and have been so for months. The Belt's action was most marvellous, removing the pain in a few days."—H. BURNETT, 25 Vansley street, Toronto.

NERVOUS DISEASES

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of nervous diseases such as General Weakness, Impotency, Loss of Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is practicing a dangerous form of charlatanry. Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Appliances, is the only truly remedial agent that will supply what is lacking, namely, nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the system, and secure to healthy action the whole nervous system.

KIDNEY DISEASE

"Your Belt has done wonders for me. It stopped the bleeding of my kidneys, which were so bad that I was almost blind. I am satisfied it saved my life, and I am a wonder to everybody who knew how bad I was."—W. PATTERSON, Belleville, Ont.

LUMBAGO AND LAME BACK

"I'm a victim of my doctor, after everything else failed, I got an Owen Electric Belt for a severe attack of lumbago and lame back. At that time I was so bad I could not stand up without assistance, or take any rest. After wearing the Belt for a short time the pains were all gone and I am as well as ever. I know it was the Belt cured me, and I would not be without it for $500."—W. J. LEWIS, Postmaster C.P.R., Owen Sound, Ont.

DYSPEPSIA

"For over four years I have been a sufferer from indigestion, catarrh and nervous prostration, and great numbers of pills and drugs without any benefit. I purchased the Owen Electric Belt about four months ago, and have worn it since with the most beneficial results. I am perfectly well and free from every trouble."—A. McDOUGALL, Montreal, Que.

WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD

To show while this belt wears the current is under the control of the patient as compared with the old method of the electrician on an infant that we would on a giant by simply turning a switch on or off. Our mode has been in the market for five or ten years longer, but today there are more Owen Belts in use than ever before and sold than all other makes combined.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS AND CHEAP BELTS

Our Trade Mark is the portrait of Mr. A. Owen embossed in gold upon every Belt and Appliance manufactured by the Owen Electric Belt and Appliance Co. None genuine without it. SEND FOR CATALOGUE, MAILED (SEAL) FREE.

FALL OPENING

SEASON 1892.

Six years ago when I started business on the cash plan, other merchants gave me three months to last. I am here yet and have pretty well demonstrated the fact that the people of Moose Jaw will pay cash if by doing so they can save money. This system has enabled me to throw on the market large lots of goods purchased from large wholesale stocks, parties retiring from business, and overloaded manufacturers. These I have sold at low prices at the same time selling regular goods at from 10 to 25 per cent. less than other dealers. I shall continue this method of doing business regardless of croakers.

I will have auction sales on the following dates:

OCTOBER 8TH, 15TH, 22ND AND 29TH,

OF

Cook-stoves, Heating-stoves, Stove Furniture, Cutlery, Brushes, Brooms, Etc., Etc.

I have just received a car-load of all kinds of stoves. Another car-load is on the way. These goods are to be sold at the lowest prices. Call and see my stock.

FOR CASH ONLY.

Thanking you for past patronage,

Yours truly,

THE "CHURCH CASE."

Judgements Given in This And Other Cases by Mr. Justice Richardson.

The Honorable Mr. Justice Richardson has given judgement in the following:

ALLISON VS. STEVENSON.

This was action for the value of work and labor done by the plaintiff in the construction of a house for the defendant. The defendant pleaded that plaintiff's demand had been satisfied by an interchange of work.

Judgement: That plaintiff's action be dismissed with costs to the defendant.

T. C. Johnstone and Wm. Grayson for the plaintiff; W. J. Nelson for the defendant.

SCHRAM VS. A. K. GRAYSON.

This was an action for a balance due of $34 on a disputed account. This the defendant disputed and counter claimed $38 from the plaintiff. Judgment for the plaintiff for $12.60, with costs; the defendant's counter-claim dismissed with costs. (Pursuant to the findings in the report of Seymour Green J. P., Referee.)

W. J. Nelson for plaintiff; Wm. Grayson for defendant.

MCDOUGALL VS. MCLEAN AND POTTER.

This case is now familiarly known as the "Church Case." It arose in respect to James Brass' contract for the building of the Moose. The plaintiff, Mr. Brass' assignee, claimed $317.85, the balance due on the contract or in the alternative the same amount on a bill of exchange, drawn by Mr. Brass, payable to the plaintiff and accepted by the defendant. The defence was that the Bill was accepted by the defendants on behalf of the Board of Managers conditional on the completion of the Moose, according to contract, and that the Moose has not been completed and that it would take $100 to properly complete the same. The defendants told $367.85 into court with their defence, retaining $150, being 10 per cent of the contract money, under Section 7, Chap. 28 of the Revised Ordinances, until the completion of the contract and $100 the sum required to complete the building.

Judgement for the plaintiff for $182.43 and allowing the defendants $80 for the work left unfinished by the contractor.

The point decided was that where a man gives a note for a sum in excess of the amount due and the holder of the note knew of the excess, when he sues on it he can only recover the amount actually due, and as to the retention of ten per cent. under the Merchant's Liens Act the owners are not entitled to deduct same as it is not an absolute forfeiture, but only a security against liens.

The plaintiff gets judgment for such costs as he would if he had sued on an ordinary Bill of Exchange. The extra costs of the action are allowed to the defendants. The defendants costs are to be set-off against the plaintiff's.

The defendants intend to appeal to the full court on the ground that the whole action should have been dismissed with costs.

T. C. Johnstone and Wm. Grayson for the plaintiff; W. J. Nelson for the defendant.
